Due to flooding, Manhattan's driver's license office is closed, services still available at the Riley County Courthouse

TOPEKA – Due to flood waters Thursday from Wildcat Creek, the Kansas Department of Revenue's driver's license office in Manhattan is closed.

The office at, 3003 Anderson Ave., will likely remain closed at least through Friday.

Staff at the office have moved to the Riley County Treasurer's office in the courthouse at 5th and Humboldt where they will continue to work until the main office can reopen. People may also use the Junction City driver's license station.

Flood waters began entering the building Thursday morning and employees moved the equipment off the floor before moving their operation to the courthouse.
